

A REPORT ABOUT STUDY METHODS USED AT CAMPUS

Author : NANSAMBU HASIFA

Reg no: 15/U/10765/PS

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Purpose . . . . .	1
2	Body	1
2.1	Lectures . . . . .	1
2.2	Discussions . . . . .	2
2.3	Notes reading . . . . .	3
3	Conclusion	3

1 Introduction

There are various schemes used by students at their time at the university. these schemes can be peer related i.e study through use of information from their friends or it can be through lectures. These vary from student to student as long as it fits with in their preference.

1.1 Purpose

To explain the various schemes used by students to excel at the University and propose the new solutions that can be used in order to improve on the existing ones.

2 Body

The various study methods used include:

2.1 Lectures

this includes attending of classes and presence of lecturers. It also involves students interacting with the lecturer inform of asking questions and paying extra attention.

2.2 Discussions

A peer to peer method of studying which includes students sitting together and learning interactively without a presence of a lecturer.

2.3 Notes reading

Involves personal reading and summarizing of what is being read.

3 Conclusion

Generally the above mentioned schemes have enabled students excel at campus. a student has to find what scheme is most convinient for him and thus decide to use it so as to attain the presentable grade.